

Max Planck Institute
LUXEMBOURG
for Procedural Law

GIORGIA SPOLVERATO

giorgia.spolverato@mpi.lu

Tel.: +352 269 488 256

Professional Experience

- | | |
|-------------------|---|
| 02/2020 – present | PhD candidate , University of Luxembourg – Faculty of Law, Economics and Finance. |
| 12/2019 – present | Research Fellow , Max Planck Institute Luxembourg for Procedural Law, International Max Planck Research School for Successful Dispute Resolution (IMPRS-SDR) |
| 08/2018 –02/2019 | Communication and project manager assistant , European Festivals Association, Brussels, Belgium |

Education

- LL.M. in European Studies, Double degree University of Strasbourg and University of Udine (2019)
- Bachelor Degree in International Studies, University of Milan (2017)

Publications

Journal Articles

- 'The Implementation of the European Prison Rules Regarding Education in Belgium and Ireland' (2021) 29(1) European Journal of Crime, Criminal Law and Criminal Justice.

Book reviews

- 'Decider avec les algorithmes. Quelle place pour l'homme, quelle place pour le droit' (2020) 11(2) European Journal of Law and Technology.

Book Chapters

- 'The Risk of Inhuman and Degrading Treatment as a reason to limit the Principle of Mutual Recognition on which the European Arrest Warrant is built.' in Jong, J, Neuman, M & van der Waal, M (eds), Where is Europe? Respacing, Replacing, and Reordering Europe (Euroculture consortium, Groningen 2019).

Teaching Activities

- Legal Research and Writing. Human Rights Advanced Course (LLM, 2h). University of Strasbourg, 2020.
- The Service Regulation. Fundamental Developments in European Procedural Law (LLM, 1h). University of Luxembourg, 2021.