

1st IAPL-MPI Post-Doctoral Summer School on European and Comparative Procedural Law

Organized by the International Association of Procedural Law (IAPL) and the Max Planck Institute Luxembourg for International, European and Regulatory Procedural Law, under the direction of Professor Loic Cadiet (Université Paris I - Sorbonne) and Professor Burkhard Hess (MPI Luxembourg).

This first IAPL-MPI Post-Doctoral Summer School aims to bring together young post-doc researchers in European and comparative procedural law, as well as dispute resolution. It will give them an opportunity to openly exchange experiences and share their ideas with both young and experienced proceduralists.

In this regard, Luxembourg is one of the most interesting judicial venues in Europe and offers many opportunities for exchanges between procedural theory and practice.

The Summer School will take place between the 20th and the 23rd of July 2014 at the MPI Luxembourg.

The participants to the School will present and discuss their research activities. Invited Law professors and practitioners will also make presentations on current topics related to the subject matter of the school.

Applicants are eligible for grants covering accommodation and living expenses.

Applications:

Candidates shall submit a short paper (3-4 pages) in English on their research profile and briefly present the topic of their current research.

They shall in addition submit a CV and a recommendation letter of their supervisor/home institution.

Applications shall be submitted to the Institute (summer-school@mpi.lu) not later than 15 March 2014.

A joint IAPL-MPI Committee will decide on the applications by the end of March 2014.

Practical information:

When: 20 – 23 July 2014

Where:

Max Planck Institute Luxembourg
4, rue Alphonse Weicker
L-2721 Luxembourg

Working Language: English

For further information on the program of the school, accommodation and grants:
<http://www.mpi.lu/summer-school/>

